

Strawberry Jams!

New York baseball fans of both pin-stripes lined up on May 3 at American Legends in Scarsdale, N.Y. for the chance to meet former Met and Yankee Darryl Strawberry.

"We were excited to have him because he's so huge in New York and he appeals to both Mets and Yankees fans," says shop owner Donna Rubin, pictured below with Strawberry. "I think he enjoys making these public appearances and interacting with the fans."

Rubin had customers driving as much as three hours for the chance to meet the man who starred in the famous baseball episode of The Simpsons.

"He was truly wonderful with every fan that came through. He took pictures with everyone, talked to the kids and genuinely enjoyed himself. The customers/fans that came through all had a good time. In fact, one customer gave our manager a hug to thank her and us for having Darryl come to the store so he could meet him! Everybody all commented that he was no nice."
